CHICAGO PRODUCE TRADE.

The news by the Bohemian is, politically of great importance. If the intelligence may be relied on, the end of that rotten old Bour spect which all Americans feel for Queen Vitoria. More than this would be offensive him and unbecoming in us. Our people do not recognise any hereditary right in rulers of any family whatever—Bourbon, Hapsburg or Gusph. It is the theory of our institutions strations in his honor. Should cur people sitempt them, they would fall far below the receptions accorded him in the Canadian length of time during which it has been to resed.

Our large graziers have added largely to the interest of the stock feafure by contributing most largely, and every train brings its droves for exhibition. In this regard the fair will have most with most possible success. The show of agricultural implements is not as yet vary large, though extrins of many articles have been made every now and then its shrill whistle, giving the strenuous exertions in its behalf.

Outside of the Fair grounds, a twenty acre We trust, then, that beyond the civilities which and our admiration of the excellent wife and mether by whom they are governed, nothing will be thought of.

Fire Department. On the arrival of the train about 1 a. m., it was mot at the Depot by the Milwankee Fire Department with torchea, and a large number of citizens. The body of Mr. Eviston was taken in charge by the Department and conveyed in solemn procession, with blasing torchea and the telling of the city being to the residence of his father on Main street. A deeply solemn tone assumed to pervade the countenance of every one who united in this procession, and the glaring torches, the monotoneous music, and the dolful sound of the telling bell as it finished away on the midalght air, altogether made up a seems of indescribbbles, I might say heart rending, solemnity.

as beach. In Market, Main, Menigas, Wiscon-sio, Huron, Mason, and the streets in that vi-cinity, about every building presents the same sombre appearance. The grief is deep and universal. And these scenes and these signs of grief must coutlants for days—for weeks. The bedies of scarce one-quarter of the victims hornes as we done and morning. The city, as I have stated above, hore all the outer signs of mourning. At the hour named the Fire Department, marshalled as follows, took up their line of march, and proceeded to the residence of the father of the late Chief Engineer Eviston, where the body lay?

The clergy of the Church South vigorously co-operated with the politi-cians of the same period and the same lati-tude in the work of eradicating anti-slavery sentiment, and of erganizing a reign of ierror which should at ppress its utterance. The politicians repaid the favor by lending their aid in keeping the clergy of the old Church out of the chosen field of the Church South. A system of persecution, of misrepresentation, and of intimidation was reett. The rowdy element is of course for Doug-las. T. en again the patronage of the New York Custom House is extended to the New Jersey editors, esveral of whom, as we were informed hold sinecares there at hundreds of dollars per year. All the means that mosey and the patronage of the Government can com-mand are used to perpetuate the corruption and the power in the heads of those who have so long managed to hoodwink the people and fat-class of American propellers A 2. Should they be lost, however, the season of '64 would

The A 1 sail shipping consisted of 63 vessels, in aggregate measurement $1,892 tons, (including 7 Canadiums of 1,850 tons.) Of these, 51 vessels, tonning 17,083 tons, will remain in their present class and grade for '61; but only 8 vessels, of 2,184 tons total, will remain for the season of '62, and for the remain for the sels, of 2,184 four total, will remain for the season of '65, and for the season of '64 none will be left—all having lapsed into grade 2. The sail shipping standing A 2 amounted to 177 reasels, measuring 59,633 fons, (including 12 Canadians of 5,703 tons aggregate.) One half, or 35 of shore vessels, measuring 29,633 tons, into B class for the vest season. or 35 of these vessels, measuring go into B class for the next seat go into B class for the hext season; while 45 more, tonnage 16,317 tons, follow them for 63; and 57, measuring 13710 tons, do the same for 63, leaving only 67 vessels, tonnage 28,304, out of 340, tonnage 51,014 tons, now in both grades of class A, for the season of 64, after which, by reason of 16,00ses, none may remain.

of 240, somme $1,014 tons, now in both grades of class A, for the season of '64, after which, by reason of losses, none may remain.

Thus it appears that four years hence there will servesly be an A I or A 2 sail vessel or propeller on the Laker, except what shall be built in that time—250 vessels, measuring on the average 385 tons, and in the aggregate 10,856 tons, will have lapsed from class A. It is obvious that if the present footing of character of Lake vessels (above 300 tons) is to be maintained, an equal amount of tourage will have to be built in the next four years.

It may be granted, our first class vessels of good size are few enough just now. The propellers number 47, measuring 29,873 tons, and average 383 tons. Under the present system of classification, the demand for A I new vessels would seem to be 6 propellers and 50 sail vessels amusuity, for preserving the character of shipping alone. But if half of the new first class shipping alone. But if half of the new first class shipping alone. But if half of the new first class shipping alone. But if half of the new first class shipping alone. But if half of the new first class shipping is be built shall grade 1 2, as it did in 1577, it would require 5 more propellers and 5 more sail vessels—december of grade 1 remain in class A for 8 years, while those of grade 2 tapes from it in 5 years.

And that "duty" is to give the statesiman of Illinois—the tall, not the short one—the electoral vote of the State. Albany county what heavily against "The Fathfinder" in '54, but she will do better this year than ever. Bestdes the number who have left, and are constantly leaving, the athem Democracy, the mass of the desent American vote mas a concentrated last year as to elect in part our county officers, and lessing the belance by only small majorities. A cab loud or no of Brooks' men are playing the Bell Evertit dedge for the bouefit of Douglas, but they are everywhere recognized as political prostutetes, and countrol no votes but their own. Think of an American Belluevrett-Douglas Constitutional Union—and Constitutional-doughfade party—being beaded by a Mergly. How very Americanish that name is! Bet a party as poorly off as the Douglas party must not be particular about its "ways and means," and if the game of transforming a Murphy into an "Americans" and then transforming him back again when needed, desert' work to their astisfaction, they man; plan better next time—that's all.

The Douglas went flow ther Jordan a very "hard read." New withstending all their bland chements, the Breck and Lune people refuse to come into their fold. Many of the weak-kneed once want to, even Brady, their candidate for Governor, shows signs of backing down; but Dickinson, the great magnate of the party in this State, stands from. Make an alephant to the Douglas Squatter Sovereigns. The real Americans won't surface than an elephant to the Douglas Squatter Sovereigns. And now Mr. Editor let me not sinrile you by asking whether the Living Elgis was a seawerthy boat? I know nothing of the ship's pedigree, where she was built, or when she was built, or whether she has undergone any altering, isogithening or weakening process. I only know that she had a beautiful exterior, a swanlike symmetry, and was commanded by one of the mother condition of here waters; but sur, the easy manner in which she broke up, and the rotten condition of her heavy timbers which strew the shore, seems miles north of this, convince me that she was not what ther external appearance indicated. And surmons pite was instead together on all sides with huge nails of copper which weighed ten pounds and spwards.

The inside in d in it three galleries or corridors, the lowest of which led to the hold by a flight of stairs, the accord to spartments, and the first to soldiers' lodgings. On the right and left side of the middle gallery three were spartments to the number of thirty, in such of which were four beds for men. The apartments for the officers and seamen had fitten beds, and three great rooms for eating; the last of which, that was at the stern, served for a kitchen. All the flore of these apartments were inside with small stones of different colors, representing stories taken from the Illiad of Homer. The ceilings, windows, and all the other parts were finited with wonderful art, and embedlished with all kinds of ornament.

In the supermost gallery there was a gymnasium or place of exercise, and walks proportionate to the magnitude of the ship. Is them were gardens and plants of all kinds, disposed in wonderful order. Plyes, some of hardened elsy and ashers of lind, conveyed water all around to refresh them. There were also arbors of ivy analysines that had their roots in great vessels illed with earth. These vessels were watered in the ashers are the sustment of Venus with three beds. This was floored with sighter and other precious stones, the finest that could be found in the island. The walls and root were of cypress wood. The windows were alonged with troy, paintings and small statues. In another apartment was a library, at the top of which, on the outside, was a fixed sun-dist. There was also an apartment with three beds, for a bath, in which there were three breast coppers and a bathing vease made of a angle stone of various colors.
